Preserving Heritage Craftsmanship

“ All materials are locally sourced, saving on road miles and therefore emissions. Our glazes are non-toxic for the environment and all living beings. All of our clay is recycled and rehydrated within the studio until used up: ceramics is generally a very low impact craft. ”

Piera Dencker-Rasmussen de Mascoli, Founder

Our raw tiles require tile sealants, and our recommended supplier is Go Protect. We will also seal tiles for you in Boiled Linseed Oil. These tiles can be topped up with additional beeswax and need topping up with oil every 3-4 years.

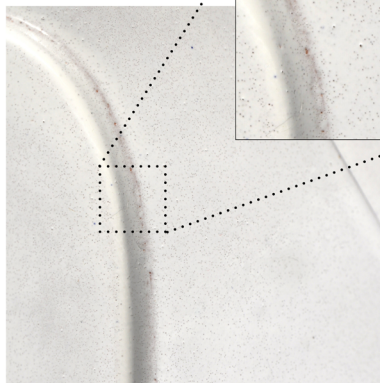

We provide tile samples with all sealants applied but for final orders Satin & Enhanced Sealants must be purchased as an additional item and applied after installation.

If out of stock, you can purchase the sealants directly from the supplier. Maintenance advice is supplied on the Go Protect website. Please send us a message for further enquiries.

Stable will only show traditional signs of variation found in clay.

Medium occasional iridescence and streaks but it will be uncommon.

Volatile unpredictable variation in colour and texture across every tile.

Samples

We cannot guarantee that finishes will be the exact same shade as samples provided. The beauty of our tiles comes from their handmade nature and the use of clay, which is subject to natural variations. We recommend ordering a variety of sizes and colours as samples before finalising your decision.

Variation

The beauty of our tiles lies in the fact that they are handmade by artisans: this means that each batch has its own personality and variation. Clay is a natural and variable material: therefore a variation in colour and texture can be expected. We cannot guarantee that finishes will be the exact same shade as samples provided.

“The relief design casts shadows that provide an infinitely changing landscape throughout the day.”

International

We ship internationally, however, postage will vary from country to country dependant on the quantity. You will be liable for the payment of any import duties and taxes incurred as well as providing the information needed to clear your goods through your country's customs. Please contact us in advance in our contact section to arrange postage.

Returns

Due to the nature of our business, all tiles are custom made to order and therefore we do not accept returns or exchanges.

Damages

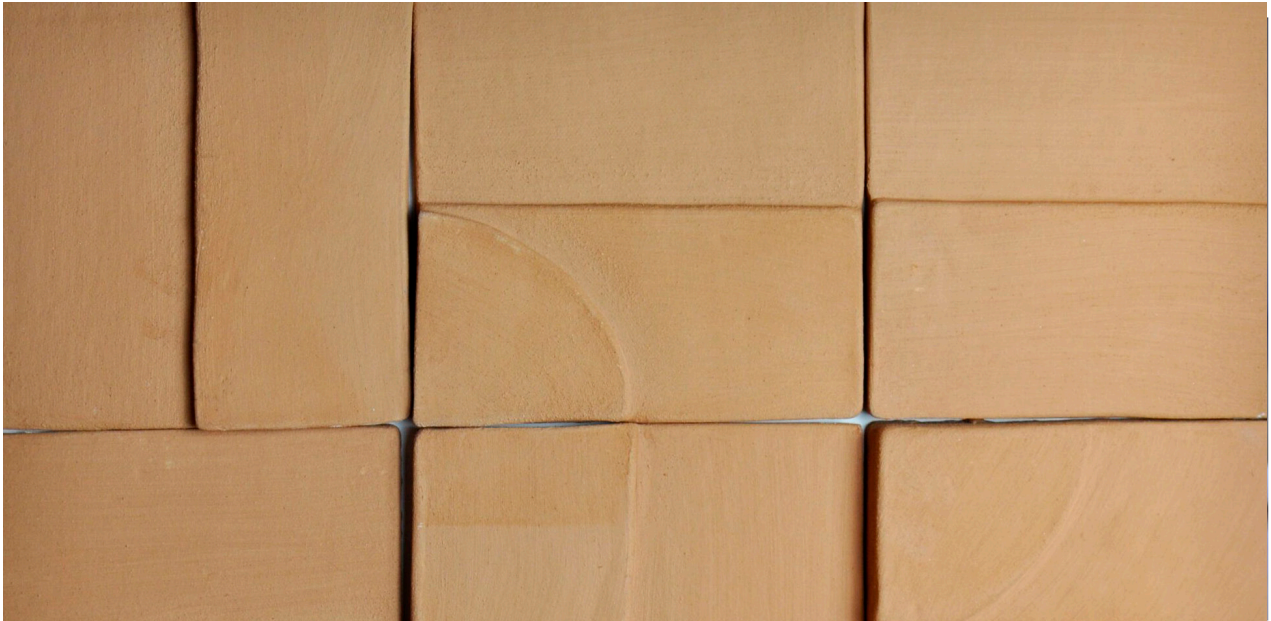

Upon delivery please inspect your tiles and contact us within 48 hours. If you notice any damage or discrepancies contact us with documentation of the issue so that we can arrange a replacement delivery.

Collection

You can arrange for collection from our home studio in London. To arrange this please contact us in advance. Please ensure that you collect goods in a suitable vehicle. The tiles will need inspecting before transportation and please be aware that you transport the goods at your own risk.

Important Information

Two & ½ Dimensions is a studio for authentic handmade artisan ceramic tiles. All products are locally and ethically sourced: our clay comes from Staffordshire, saving on road miles and therefore emissions. This laborious tradition is dying out with most handmade tiles being mass produced and then hand painted: in the studio all tiles are hand cut, making each one individually unique. By rejecting the idea of the perfectly made, one size fits all design, we aim to create accessible craftsmanship.

Use

The tiles are considered for indoor use only as they are not freeze-tolerant. Two & A Half Dimensions are suitable for bathrooms, kitchen and shower room walls when properly installed on a suitable substrate using an adhesive appropriate for the substrate. They are not suitable for flooring, and we recommend not using relief tiles for kitchen counter tops.

Lead Times

As our handmade ceramic tiles are made to order, production can take anywhere from 6-8 weeks. We will be in contact throughout your order process to inform you of where your tiles are in their journey. Please enquire about larger orders as lead times may extend.

Crazing

Ceramic tiles are known to “craze” over time, which is the appearance of hairline cracks. They will still perform well and this is one of the many cherished characteristics of hand made tiles.’

Sizing

Sizing referred to is variable and not the actual size. Due to the handcrafted nature of these tiles, dimensions are approximate.

Tile sizes will never be perfectly square, and may vary by up to 4mm. Often we find that variations will be consistent throughout each batch.
